Tourism for All is the UK voice for accessible tourism, a national charity dedicated to making tourism welcoming to everyone.

Join us today, start enjoying the benefits.

What does Tourism for All do?

We provide disabled travellers with a personalised information and advice service. Although we're not travel agents we help disabled people plan and take holidays and breaks - both in the UK and overseas - with confidence.

Do you have a brochure or a list of accessible places?

A brochure quickly becomes out of date and would also limit your choice. We recognise that everyone has very individual requirements so our approach is to understand your needs and wishes before using our extensive knowledge and contacts to find places and experiences that will be right for you.

Do you charge for this service?

Yes. This service is available to Tourism for All members for an annual subscription of £25.00 for UK residents (£40.00 for overseas residents). Membership entitles you to use our information service as many times as you like during the year.

Many Tourism For All Members discover the savings made from partner discounts and privileged rates more than pay for their membership - at just £25.00 per year, it's great value for money!

Are there other benefits of being a member?

Yes there are! As a member you will also be entitled to receive:

A range of exclusive privileged rates and discounts, on places to stay, travel insurance and specialist holidays, from accommodation and service providers who are our partners.

Our regular e-news and newsletter, with accessible tourism news, new places to stay and visit, blog posts, offers, events and more.

How do I become a Tourism For All

Just complete the attached form and return it to us, with your cheque or credit / debit card details, or if you prefer you can join securely online at www.tourismforall.org.uk

As a member of Tourism for All, what do I have to do if I want to take a holiday or break?

It's easy - just follow these 5 simple steps:

- Step 1 Think about where you want to go on your holiday or break.
- Step 2 Think about what accessible features and facilities you need.
- Step 3 Contact us by telephone or email.
- Step 4 We will send you our suggestions and recommendations, telling you clearly everything you need to know.
- Step 5 When you're ready, go ahead and book with confidence - or we can do it for you!

I know where I want to go - how can I find places that suit my needs without becoming a member of Tourism for All?

We suggest you take a look at our Open Britain website at www.openbritain.net

OpenBritain is a one-stop-shop for accessible holidays in the UK. Completely free to use, it has details of over 7,000 tourism businesses to help you plan your perfect accessible holiday or break.

But remember, by not being a member you could miss out on latest offers, exclusive discounts and great new places to stay and visit.

Together we are able

We are passionate in our vision that travel and tourism should be a comfortable and welcoming experience for everybody, no matter what their impairment.

You too can show your support for making tourism welcoming for everybody and be part of a vibrant community, where our collective voices will be heard.

Tourism is for Everybody is a movement of individuals, businesses and policy-makers acting together to improve the experience for disabled tourists and travellers in the UK.

Let's work together and put people at the heart of accessible tourism.

Who are Tourism for All?

A small, vibrant, national charity, Tourism For All has been the voice of accessible travel and tourism in the UK since 1981.

TFA Information Service

Carrie-Ann Lightley has run our operations from offices in Kendal, the Lake District, since 2005.

Herself a lover of travel, Carrie-Ann has never let being a wheelchair user stop her enjoying new places and experiences.

This gives her real empathy with others who may have encountered difficulty in finding suitable facilities and services, or who may lack the confidence to plan a holiday, and a real determination to help them enjoy great holiday experiences.
